DISCOVER GRADUATE SCHOOL AT PITT Feb. 15-17, 2018

The University of Pittsburgh is sponsoring a trip to campus for underrepresented juniors and seniors who have not previously visited, so they may learn more about graduate programs at the Swanson School of Engineering. Hosted by the Swanson School's Office of Diversity, the visit gives students a glimpse of graduate programs at one of the nation's leading research institutions.

Students will have an opportunity to tour the campus and meet department faculty and graduate students. They will spend the afternoon with departments of their choice in a variety of engineering disciplines, including:

- Bioengineering
- Chemical & Petroleum
- Civil & Environmental
- Electrical & Computer
- Industrial
- Mechanical & Materials Science

The Discover program includes transportation to and from the University of Pittsburgh, meals, a dinner reception, and overnight accommodations. Students will depart Saturday, February 17 at noon.

Requirements for acceptance to Discover Graduate School at Pitt 2018:

- GPA of 3.3 or higher
- Juniors who will be seniors in fall 2018
- Seniors who have not had prior visits
- Completion of an application and letter of recommendation from a faculty member

Please contact the Office of Diversity for additional information at 412-624-2118 or e-mail Sussan Olaore at agepadmin@pitt.edu.
