

DR. JOAN DONOVAN

Research Director,
Shorenstein Center on Media,
Politics and Public Policy,
Harvard University

WHAT IS MEDIA MANIPULATION?

Wednesday, February 3, 2021 // 12-1PM on Zoom

Dr. Donovan leads the field in examining internet and technology studies, online extremism, media manipulation, and disinformation campaigns. Her research and teaching interests are focused on media manipulation, effects of disinformation campaigns, and adversarial media movements. She leads The Technology and Social Change Project (TaSC) at Harvard, which explores how media manipulation is a means to control public conversation, derail democracy, and disrupt society.

MORE INFO /
REGISTER / CONTACT /

just-infras.illinois.edu

Grainger College of Engineering
Computer Science Department
Strategic Research Initiative

School of Information Sciences

