Mitch Altman
Guest-in-Residence at Unit One
2/25-3/12

Mitch Altman is a hacker and inventor of the TV-B-Gone remote control, a keychain that turns off TVs in public places. He co-founded 3ware, a successful Silicon Valley startup; did pioneering work in Virtual Reality at VPL Research; and created the Brain Machine, one of MAKE Magazine's most popular DIY projects. He leads workshops around the world, teaching people to make cool things with electronics, as well as promoting hackerspaces and open source hardware. Altman is a co-founder of Noisebridge, and President and CEO of Cornfield Electronics.
All events are free and open to the public unless otherwise stated

Sunday, February 25
7pm – Opening Program: Hack Your Life for Fun and Profit (south rec rm) (Open to anyone)

Monday, February 26
7pm-8:30pm - Make your own multi-color blinky light badge! (south rec rm) (Open to anyone) Anyone and everyone can learn to solder! It's easy! It's fun! Mitch can teach you!
9pm – Tea Time: Creating and being part of supportive community - the hackerspace movement (guest apartment)

Tuesday, February 27
7pm-9:30pm - Make your own Drawdio: A pencil that lets you draw with music (south rec rm) (Allen residents only)
It's a very simple musical synthesizer that uses the conductive properties of pencil graphite to create different sounds. The result is a fun toy that lets you draw musical instruments on any piece of paper.
9:30pm – Q hosts Tea Time with Mitch (guest apartment)

Wednesday, February 28
7pm-9:00pm - Make your own interactive art with light and computer chips! (south rec rm) (Allen residents only)
Nothing needed but you and your curiosity. You can make something way cool in less than an hour. Trippy RGB Waves is a project to create waves of colors that follow your hands.
9:30pm – Tea Time with Mitch - Let's talk about depression (guest apartment)
Mitch has started Geeks & Depression meetups and has organized panels on depression at hacker conferences.

Thursday, March 1
7pm-10pm - Arduino For Total Newbies workshop (south rec rm) (Allen residents only)
Arduino is a super popular, incredibly easy-to-use electronics board that anyone can learn to use to make their art, electronics, or projects of all sorts. This workshop will teach you everything you need to know to get going with Arduino. As an example project we'll all make a TV-B-Gone remote control that you can take home with you -- if you can make this, you can make anything!

Saturday, March 3
1pm-3pm - Neurohacking and consciousness hacking meetup (south rec rm) (Open to anyone)
Our brains are always putting out patterns of energy. Can we make use of this for anything cool? Can you control things using your thoughts? Can we use technology to help expand our consciousness? People have been trying since the 1960s. What's possible? What's not? Come to this meetup to explore some of these questions, and to try using your brainwaves to control blinky lights with real EEG machines!

Sunday, March 4
1pm-4pm - Make a Brain Machine (south rec rm) (Allen residents only)
Get altered states of consciousness and hallucinate beautiful colors and patterns with this microcontroller-driven sound and light device. Meditate! Hallucinate! Trip out!
