

What Does It Mean to be “Family-Centered”?

Beliefs and helping practices that are...

- Treating families with respect
- Nonjudgmental
- Flexible
- Individualized to each family and child
- Built upon the strengths and abilities that all families have
- Providing open and honest information/ communication
- Assisting families to be the key decision makers in all aspects of the services they receive